THIS IS THE STORY OF THE YEAR...

A year which meant a beginning of high school careers to some, a continuance of this career to others, and to a third group, this year stood for the reaching of a coveted goal in a climb to success...

A year filled with much activity and many exciting happenings . . .

A year of new associations, new ideals, new accomplishments . . .

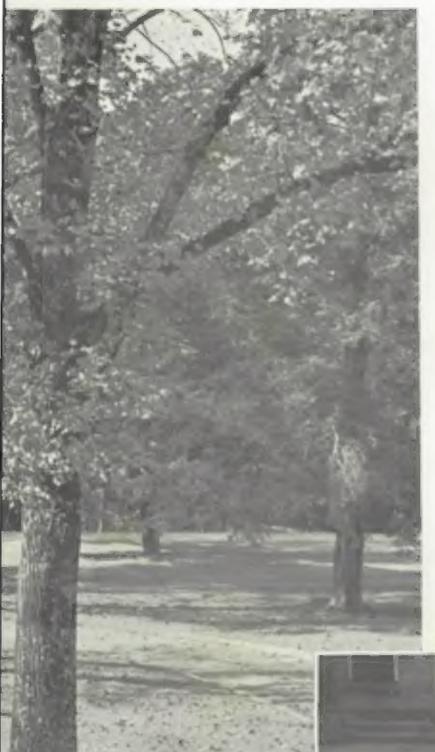

A year showing a job well done for SBP, and in turn for each student . . .

A year meaning many things for many students, and a year of both hard work and keen enjoyment for all.

FALL

With fall starting, the '59-'60 Prep year made its debut. In expection of the coming season, the football team assembled to start gridiron practice. Registration was completed, the rooms were assigned and the classes were begun. In every class there were new faces and new challenges before us. Then the dances began, as did the football games. The year was in forward motion. Then, as the mysteries of various classes began to unfold themselves, came the Football Festival and the start of basketball. As a setting for all of this, we were given a beautiful, warm autumn - a setting fully enjoyed by all. The brown and yellow leaves, blanketed over the campus, blended well with the brisk, windy days to create a beautiful fall season.

As St. Bernard Prep nears the end of a successful year, we see how fortunate we have been to have such capable men in the positions that make the decisions. Planning and developing the activities, recording accomplishments, making improvements, and in general, making a home away from home for us, the administrative team has performed its difficult job well.

Long before school opened, Fr. Roger Lott, O.S.B., Registrar, and Fr. Hilary Dreaper, O.S.B., Dean of Studies, worked hard to plan our courses and have continued ever since to work out our many problems concerning the cirriculam of our studies.

We cannot thank Fr. Lawrence Phillips, O.S.B. for his work as our Principal. Carrying the burden of all school activities throughout the

The year could not have been a success without our Chaplain, Fr. David Bowes, O.S.B. Hearing confessions, playing the organ, or what ever he was called upon to do — he did well to take care of our spiritual needs

Nor can we slight our Prefects who did such a tremendous job this year, as usual. Thanks to our "fathers" at St. Bernard

This has been a wonderful year, one filled with good times and well planned activities, and one othered on learning our studies. For it we are in deep appreciation to the administration and cannot thank them enough because their doors were open when we needed help

Because of its being a great asset to a successful life. English is one of the most important studies that we make here at SBP. From the first to fourth year, we have composition classes and also we study literature, to become acquainted with the works of the past masters

In order to make our writing and speech more polished and beautiful the four years of English follow a plan of study from the simple parts of speech to the most complex sentences. Every year takes on a new phase until we have rovered sufficient material to show ability at speaking and writing our country's top or

Striving to Speak

St. Bernard Prep has an excellent language department staffed by the most able and experienced teachers. The halls of St. Bernard resound with many languages — Latin, French, Spanish and German

Latin, as in all schools, is the main foreign language taught here. Four years of this the universal speech can be taken. The essential knowledge of Latin provides a foundation to many other foreign tongues and also it is necessary in the pursuit of a profession in law or medicine. The seminarians also stress the mastering of the language for it is the speech of the tatholic Church

German is considered to be the key to sei ences because of its frequent usage in scientific work. The two years of German that can be taken here provide a necessary mastery of the tongue used by the world's scientists. Anyone interested in this type of profession is given a head start on college by studying German

In French and Spanish, the student learns the spoken tongue of other countries thereby broadening his views and developing his mind and culture. Also, with the necessity of communicating with foreigners becoming an ever present problem, these languages help us, to a large extent, to overcome this obstack

Equations, Theorems, Formulas

Building highways, designing buildings, sending rockets into outer space-these are some of the tasks which await the math students of St Bernard Math, besides being perhaps the most important fundamental requirement for the student who wishes to pursue a career in any technical field, gives us both valuable knowledge and the ability to think logically

As Freshmen, we had Algebra I and were twen the first idea of what we were up against the fundamentals of Algebra were taught us and we became familiar with the unknowns equations, terms and signs of the course

Solid Geometry, a Senior course, is a continuation of Plane Geometry and it involves the inner make-up of figures. The study of the volume and depth of figures comes in in this year.

Studying About Motions, Molecules and Man

As this modern world in a scientific age demands, the study of sciences here at St. Ber nard is stressed very earnestly. A student takes courses from Biology to Physics in order to have the training needed to be a part of this age of science.

Biology is the first of our Science courses In this study of living things, we are acquainted with the scale of life, ranging from the smallest of microscopic organisms to man.

From Biology we go to Chemistry, a world of fuming odors and glass tubes. Starting with simple elements, the year takes us through formulas and compounds to a better understanding of the make-up of the earth's material.

As the final subject in our elementary science studies. Physics answers all the questions about motion, work and the various principles of heat and light. Armed with the slide rule, we dig out the secrets of our surroundings needed to grasp a picture of the land we live in

Tracing Course of Past Events

In the three Social Studies we are able to take here at St. Bernard, we have a chance to study both the past history of man and the business essential to these present times. Two History classes and an Economies course make up this department of the Prep education available to us.

We learn only by studying both the achievements and mistakes of past man, and the United States and World History classes help us to do just this. We see the past events of man and by this have a better understanding of the present and future

The various types and uses of money, the economic problems of our country, the factors of production-all were well taught in the Economics class. The business world of today is a huge and strong force and the essentials of such a force are very well diagnosed in this course.

Preparing For The Business World

The Business Studies are not primarily emphasized in the prep school, and therefore we have only two here. But in these two, Typing and Bookkeeping, we are offered the foundation of a good business education

Exping, a course which teaches a necessity of the business world, not only shows us the art of typing speedily and accurately, but gives us the many rules and forms for letters, manuscripts and the many other types of writings used by businessmen

Behind every good business today is a complete file of the records, purchases, and things of that sort that the company makes this task of keeping such records is taught in Bookkeeping, a course used very much by all businessmen

Through Their Efforts

With the coming of the new scholastic year and fall came the 1960 football season and the spirited Saints of '60,

Members of the team reported a week early in preparation for their opening tilt with Cleve land. The team was very inexperienced in spots, but after their defeat against a veteran Cleveland eleven, the Saints made up in spirit and determination what they lacked in skill and depth, and turned out the best team that St. Bernard has turned out in at least the last decade.

Fr. Bruno, called the "basis of the Sants" almost as a title, was considered the best coach to mentor a Bernard squad

About 30 seconds later the Saints fumbled again, this time on their own five yard line and the Panthers again second

The Panther's third score came nud-way in the second quarter on a 35 yard drive set up by another Bernard fumble. The rest of the half remained a defensive duel as it ended 19-0 with the Panthers out from

The Saints were the only team to score the first half as Ed Boike and Pat Croom, the Saint's hard running backs, scored one apiece, both in the first quarter. John Worsham ran one of the extra points.

This award is given annually by the school paper, the Spectator, and is awarded for exemplary team spirit, drive, determination and willingness to go all out both in games and in practice

This year, for the first time, the senior members of the football team chose the winner Their almost unanimous choice of Mike Virden tells the story of what he meant to his team mates. The rest of the school agreed that their choice was a good one

Inder the direction of Father Charles Remer. O.S.B., the Class of '62' showed its spirit of Christian Charity by adopting is a class project the securing of food and chath of for a poor family. Various means were used to gather fands for this project, not the least of which was the shoe shine service in the basement. This called for a real spirit of humility and sacrifice. The Freshman Class of '59-'60 was composed of Benedictine seminarians and selected day students. The Prep School's future rests in the hands of this group of seven boys, and what that future will be, remains to be seen.

Outstanding Student

Outstanding student of 1959-60, was Wally Divers, a senior from Fort Benning, George, a Plus making straight "A's". Wally was a finalist in the National Merit Scholarship examinations. Besides being the outstanding student. Wally was active in athletics also. We shall all follow this well-liked senior's career with great interest.

"A priest forever according to the Order of Melchisedech." These words embody the hopes and dreams of every seminarian. The acminarian is fortunate in that he has a definite goal, and the Seminary is the place of training for the reaching of that goal

The spiritual life is the hub of the seminarian's day. "The schedule is well balanced with prayer, study, and sports, but the greatest of these is prayer..." and the seminarian learns early that the perfect prayer is to do God's will. The first exercise of the day when the seminarian rises, is morning prayers, and meditation, followed by the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass and Holy Communion. Three times a week the seminarian is able to assist the priest in the august sacrifice by serving Mass in the Crypt, or serving his prefect's Mass in the college chapel. (Continued on page 53)

Although its number was small, the St Bernard Prep Band provided musical captain ment at many pep rallies, parades football and basketball games of the Prop deput out and also played at various College functions Inder the direction of Fr. Anthony Coleman. O.S.B., the group started at the become rectithe year and worked steadily at making a name for itself on campus. Much sacrifice was made as they practiced hard at the many marches and other musical pieces they developed during the year. Later, several members joined forces to make up a combo, which made up its own versions of popular tunes and performed along with the band, and also at several dances of the year. St. Bernard was proud this year of its band, which was little-but loud.

Seek First The Kingdom of God And His Justice . . .

Of the different phases of life that helped make up the school year, none was so important as the religious life we led. Others were necessary for a complete curriculum, but the honor of God came first. All through each day, from its start, the Mass, to its finish, night prayers, we had ample chance to give God the worship we owe Him. We went to Benediction. Confession, made our own visits, and had weekly instruction during the St. Benedict's Devotion. All these things contributed to a good life, a room us life: one discussed to help every Prepster during this year at St. Bernard

Life At Maurus Hall

Although sometimes difficult, life in Maurus Hall was never uninteresting. There was always something happening, with over sixty hows under one roof. The "Viotel" housed all the joy, excitement, and sadness of the year and served as home last transwhich we started off at the beautiful of each day, and night, on our jaunts of both study and recreation

With all the facilities we had, we were able to stay in Maurus Hall for Mass, study hall, recreation and many other things that we were so spread out last year (Continued on page 74)

With the completely renovated recreation rooms, we had the chance to watch TV, read, play pool or ping pong, or just relax without making a trip across campus. For those who needed a between-meal snack, various types of food and drink machines were installed in the basement and were well used during the year.

Many everyday things made up part of life in Maurus. The daily room inspections study halls, mail calls, Mass; all these things were fragments of the year's doings. And there were extraordinary things in the memories we hold for the year, too. The room shake-up at the end of the first semester, the "cat and mouse" games, played at night, and the private adventures of each one of us were examples. Maurus Hall life, with both its ordinary and its extra-ordinary happenings—was truly a good life for us in 1959-60.

Concluding The Story Of A Year

And thus we come to the end of the story of a year. Lake all yearbook staffs we must meet certain deadlines if we are to have our finished book on the campus in time to get autographs of our friends, laugh at the odd and unusual poses of ourselves and our buddies, and in general enjoy the book with our associates of the year. The story of the year must therefore remain somewhat incomplete. We regret that we are unable to include the record and more complete pictures of the 1960 Saints of the diamond We are sorry that we could not record the Junior Senior Banquet, and the Commencement Dance and then the Graduation Exercises, as well as the other many bits of campus life as lived in the late spring

However, we have captured glimpses of many of the more important events of the year and no orded them in picture and story. We hope that our reade shave been reminded of many memorable experiences during their stay on the St. Bernard campus, and that these memories help recall other thin s that we have not pictured. Certainly, it has been a pleasure to compile the story of the year and bring it to you in the the 1959-00 BLUE AND WHITE.
